TP Petersville Homestend Association.—A sumber of persons, of small means, finding it impossible to pay the exorbitant rates now being asked for apartments and houses in this city, and believing such increase of Rents will continue for years to come, thereby compelling them to reside in small attic rooms, or damp basements in some low place in this city, endangering the lives of themselves and families, have secured a tract of land on the New-Haven Rathroad, in the town of New-Rochelle, which they intend to bay out into village plots.

The land secured contains many of the most beautiful building sites in the State. The seenery is of the most romantic character—hill and dale—which must naturally insure the health and pleasure to those who settle there.

Upon this property are several Houses, Barns, &c., which, as they consider the moneyed man, in associations established for the benefit of workingmen, abouid not have a preponderathy influence over the benefits to be derived from any improvements which may be on the property, they have determined shall not be offered for sale, but that each member shall have an equal chance to draw one of the houses without any extra charge whatever.

We think it ["Rentrice"] may serve a good purpose in warning the unwary against the wiles of Jennotism.

The celebated and successful author of "Modern Accomplishments," &c. &c., has produced no work that will add more to her reputation and be more widely useful than "Beatrice." It exposes the secret workings of the Roman Catholice to worm themselves and the secret workings of the Roman Catholice to worm themselves and the secret workings of the Roman Catholice to worm themselves and the secret workings of the Roman Catholice to worm themselves and the secret destructive hereins into the families and the affections of Protestants Premark. "Bestrice" is written with great goom, and extinces an intimate week from actual life—from facts which have come under her own observation.

From The Christian Intelligencer, N. I.

Bestrice is written with great power, and evinces an intimate knowledge of Jenutiesm, that advant and specious system of deceptors, devoed by Fapal craft. We hearthly commend the volume as one fitted to do greed services, the service is a thorough and mosterly exposure of Jesustry in its most insolitous and deceptive diagnass, written with great power, and the characters are furthly drawn. It is a work which will ensure the attention of the reader to a high diagree, and most deepy new his sympathes.

Fopery at the present time, in all Frotestant lands, is making hercules efforts to bring converts within its field. Every articles of fixed and fabelhood is employed. The Jesusta in a had sense become all things to all mon, to gain procelytias. They establish schools, they enter as domestics into families; they take orders in the Episcopial Church, in order to entray and deceive the nawary. It becomes necessary to manusch their hypocrasy and expose them suprincipled designs, which is the object of this volume, and for which it a well adopted i and we deem it a work well workly of being piaced in the house of young persons, as a safeguard and production from the preserving effects of these wity Jesusta, who are even on the which is not object of the beauty of young persons, as a safeguard and production from the preserving effects of these wity Jesusta, who are even on the which is not object of the bearts of the rising generation.
